FINGER DID NOT COUNT

Fleming Gazette: Saturday R. T.
Conrad of near Wallingford was before the local draft board on an exemption claim of peculiar interest.
He was in the draft some time ago,
was examined and accepted by the local board and before called to service he cut his right fore finger, he says, accidentally while chopping wood.
The district board then exempted him and he was not required to go. The case was taken up again Saturday by the local board, however, and it was decided that he should go at the next call, even with his finger missing.

BIG DEMAND FOR COAL IN FLEMING

The Fleming Gazette says: An unusual sigh was witnessed Wednesday morning when 40 or 50 wagons lined up at the switch yard and back on Main-X street waiting in turn to get coal. There was but one or two car loads to be had and some had to go home empty handed. The demand for coal was caused by the cold weather which had set in and by the fact that most people were unable to lay in their coal supply last summer.

RUNAWAY YESTERDAY AFTER- NOON

A team of mules attached to a big wagon belonging to James Purdon got away from the driver on West Sec-

before being stopped at the corner of Market and Second streets. Luckily no one was hurt and no damage was done notwithstanding the fact that many vehicles were on the street.

1763 ENROLLED

For Food Conservation in First Two Days of Campaign — Mason Stands Next to Jefferson and Fayette Counties, Wires
Sackett.

Louisville, Ky., October 30.
Miss Alice Lloyd,
Maysville, Ky.
Congratulations for you and the other people of Mason county. Your first day's registration next to Jefferson and Fayette counties.
FRED M. SACKETT,
Food Administrator.

The total reported enrollment in the Food Conservation Campaign for Monday and Tuesday is 1763. The actual enrollment is no doubt much larger but because of the scarcity of telephones in some precincts reports were not turned in last night. Four precincts have not been heard from but it is known that good work is being done.

Maysville No. 5—Colonel, Mrs. W.
J. Caplinger leads with 245 cards
signed; Maysville No. 6—Colonel, Miss Zorada Cochran is second in the city with 210 signatures; In the county, Dieterich—Colonel, Mrs. H. C. Hoffman, leads with 120 signatures and Lewisburg—Colonel, Mrs. T. F. Gather is second with 117.

According to the last census there are in Mason county 4229 families.
Workers are urged to push the campaign vigorously with 100% enrollment by Saturday night, November 4,
as the goal.

Tuesday's Lexington Herald stated that in Fayette county persons of sufficient intelligence to understand the gravity of the situation who did not sign the pledge were investigated to find out why they had not signed and two persons were put under surveillance as pro-Germans.
Here's hoping that Mason county has no citizens who are so lacking in intelligence or who are pro-German.

RAIN SOAKS BEDDING AT CANTONMENT

Harracks Roofs Let in the Wet at Camp Zachary Taylor — Down-
pour Converts Reservation
Into Lake of Oozy Yellow Mud—Flies Are Rekhdied.

Louisville, Ky., October 30 — Rain played havoc with training schedules
at Camp Zachary Taylor yesterday afternoon—turned the reservation into a lake of oozy yellow mud and forcibly brought home to the young soldiers some idea of the hardships and discomforts that must be endured while wearing the khaki.
Early in the afternoon officers and men made a brave attempt to continue their drills despite the drenching downpour. Every hour, every minute during a drill period is considered invaluable. When the word was passed to put on ponchoes and face the weather there was not a murmur—it was all in the game.

Men marched out into the mud and water, where they floundered around like fish out of their element. Keeping step was impossible and the commands of the officers were often unheard because of the roar of the wind which accompanied the rain. Gen.
Hale soon saw the impracticability of carrying on training under such conditions and orders were sent out from Division Headquarters suspending all further drill for the afternoon.

A mighty cheer went up when the order was given to march back to the barracks. On reaching the buildings, however, another surprise was on hand to greet them. (The roofs had been given the supreme test and had failed. There was water everywhere and many a man found his cot drenched and his bedding soaked.

The officers' quarters suffered far worse than those of the men. The roofs on these buildings seemed to be totally unfit for the purpose required.
Water was standing in some of the rooms in wide pools and streams were pouring down the walls. The regimental fire department was called out several units to help bale out certain buildings.

Throughout the camp there was unanimous complaint against the roofing provided for the buildings.
Only a very few proved to be waterproof—one of which was Division Headquarters. Staff officers were able to state that they had suffered no inconvenience from the rain,
which at times assumed the proportions of a cloudburst.

DON'T BURN THE LEAVES

Instead of burning the leaves that are falling past now with such rapidity, put them on your garden. They make an excellent fertilizer, and besides it is a much easier way of disposing of them than by smoking out your neighbors, and filling the air with a disagreeable acid, stinging smoke.

In some cities the burning of leaves is strictly prohibited by city ordinance and strictly enforced. Many physicians have indicated their belief that the smoke from the burning leaves induces diphtheria and other serious throat troubles. At the very least it is an unsanitary and wholly unnecessary proceeding. The dead leaves should be restored to replenish the soil from which they spring.

SIXTEEN CONTESTANTS

In Canning Exhibit Enter Forty-Five
Jars of Canned Vegetables—Prizes Awarded and Honorable Mention Is Given.

A total of forty-five jars of canned vegetables were entered in the canning contest and exhibition at the Chamber of Commerce last week.
These jars were the exhibits of sixteen ladies of the city and county, famed for their ability in culinary arts. The purpose of these canning contests is primarily educational and it is to be hoped that another year
there will be a greater number of entries and more visitors at the exhibition.

In addition to the prizes mentioned in an issue of last week honorable mention is made of several other exhibits. The list follows:

First prize—Mrs. E. P. Lee.
Second prize—Mrs. Qualtrance.
Reward of Merit—Mrs. N. F. Jones.
Honorable Mention—Mrs. Dr. Har-
over, Mrs. Charles M. Hancock, Mrs.
Fred Williams, Miss Emma Williams.
The idea of the canning exhibit is to give our local house wives an idea of what may be done in the way of canning fruits and vegetables and to be an added incentive to the raising of war gardens and the increased canning and preserving of our surplus food supply.

Particular mention should be made of the canned Swiss chard exhibited by Mrs. Charles Hancock. Chard is a vegetable known by our Mason county people, but is easily raised in this section and answers a twofold purpose as the top may be used as a sauté or cooked as turnip and the roots can be creamed like celery.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

The war has given such impetus to public control and ownership of many kinds that it arouses little surprise when so important a body as the National Association of Railway Commissioners propounds complete public ownership of our important public utilities. The commissioners appear to think that it will soon be found advisable for the government to take over the railroads, telephone and telegraph systems.

Speaking in particular of the railroads, representing the one utility with which these experts are most familiar, they point out that earnings have not risen sufficiently to provide necessary improvements, extensions and rolling stock; that under our present system of regulation the roads will not be permitted to raise rates high enough to obtain the necessary capital from net earnings; that the funds must therefore come either from private investors or from the government. They can hardly be got from private sources, the experts think, under present conditions. The only feasible way to get them, apparently, is in the form of government loans.

Thus the situation narrows down to government ownership. As for government operation, we have practically that, already. It is but a step, then, to changing the corporation bonds and stock certificates into federal securities, and financing the national transportation system by popular loans, as we are financing the war.

The same process, presumably, would be applied to the telephone and telegraph systems, and possibly the express companies. The predicament of these industries is not so serious as that of the railroads, but the federal absorption of one would probably lead to like treatment of all.

It's an immensely interesting possibility. And in the comment aroused by the prospect, it's worth noting that there is little of the rancor and prejudice which formerly marked government ownership discussions. The question is no longer academic. It's severely practical. What men ask now is not, "Should the government take over these industries?" but, "Is it necessary to take them over?"

GOVERNMENT TEXTBOOKS

Uncle Sam is going to take a hand in producing textbooks for grammar and high school pupils. His purpose is to make sure that the rising generation "will know better than its predecessors how to conduct the business of living." The textbooks, which will be in the form of leaflets, will be issued every month from October to May by the Food Administration and the Bureau of Education. They will be edited by Prof. Charles H. Judd, director of the School of Education at the University of Chicago.

Just what is Uncle Sam going to teach his nephews and nieces? There'll be some history, but it won't be in the form of long lists of dates. The October leaflet, for example tells about the western pioneer, the way a colonial farm was run, the spinning and dyeing of linen in the early days of America's colonial life. And this delightful kind of history will show pupils today how different things were in the old days when home was almost everything from factory to church. Then will come the development in the use of waterpower, steam, electricity; the growth of the great complex world of today with its vast cities, its factories, its new methods of production and transportation and communication. The lessons will teach the inevitable interdependence of the people of the world, of their need for co-operation at home and abroad.

The actual facts taught will be the very same facts school children have been taught for years. But they will be related to each other and to the needs of every day life and to the ideals and labor that make for progress. It sounds fascinating enough to make grown-ups wish they could go to school to Uncle Sam, too.

MUST CANDY BE RATIONED?

In a recent statement made by the food administrator in a general warning of a coming sugar shortage in the eastern and southern states, he says:

"Unless we can secure a wider and immediate reduction of the sugar consumption in candy, ice cream and sweet drinks, it will be necessary next year to curtail the supplies in these industries, as has been done all over Europe."

Mr. Hoover isn't suggesting that all use of candy be stopped at once. He has no intention or desire to do away with the candy industry. That would be unfair and unwise. He simply wants the people of the country to realize the importance of "going easy" for a while in the consumption of sugar.

As a nation we have always used more sugar than we needed. We are intemperate in our use of candy, a perfectly good food but a menace to health when indulged in beyond certain limits.

Not long ago when Mr. Hoover first asked us to save sugar he asked us to reduce our usual consumption by only 1-3—not counting sugar needed for canning. There has been some response to this request. But not nearly enough families have taken the matter seriously. There's still time to do it voluntarily, before the government has to do it for us.

Do without sugar for one meal out of the three every day, and cut out a third of your usual feast of candy, ice cream or sweet beverages. See if your health doesn't improve and your loose change stay by you longer. Like the Liberty Bonds, saving sugar will be for your own good quite as much as for anybody's else's.

It is the opinion of military men that the quick way to win the war is with a vast fleet of Aeroplanes. Well let's quit talking about it and build the planes.

Dining cars on the Eastern roads are going to serve smaller portions and charge more for meals. That's right, soak it to 'em.

The young men who have enlisted in the Air service for the war can not be accused of seeking a light occupation necessarily.

LITTLE Sidelights ON
THE BIG WAR

The war is now costing the belligerent nations $6,500,000 an hour.

Denmark is suffering from an enormous increase of taxes as one result of the war.

London has supplied steel helmets to the special constable on duty during the air raids.

Fireworks, fire balloons, etc., have been prohibited in England since the commencement of the war.

The "botted" shirt and glazed collar are now rarities in England, owing to the Government ban on starch.

Blue is worn by the wounded soldiers, and by nurses, because, according to the scientists, blue is a "healing" color.

Great Britain assumed the entire railway control of the United Kingdom within ten hours after issuing her first declaration of war.

The National Bible Society of Scotland has distributed four million copies of the Scriptures among the soldiers of the British and allied armies.

No fewer than ten thousand French English and Belgian women carpenters are now engaged in the work of building huts for the soldiers on the Western front.

The German forces since the commencement of the war have usually been divided between the two fronts in the proportion of two men on the Western front to one on the Eastern.

"Zooming" means, in the language of the military aviator, just lifting the nose of the machine to surmount obstacles such as trees, and then immediately dropping again when they are passed.

Simultaneously with the outbreak of the war, the Kaiser's special train was adapted to war-time traveling.

The cars are all armored, and the locomotive is designed to withstand even bomb and shell attacks.

A barrel of German red dye, hidden away in a stock room of a paper company in Lincoln, N. H., since its purchase three years ago for $89, while war conditions boosted its value, has been sold to a New York concern for $5000.

To aid in the conservation of the fashions have decided that the killing country's meat supply Texas poultry and dressing turkeys for the holiday trade this year shall be postponed later than usual, so that the turkeys may attain full growth.

The Kaiser has no settled headquarters. Since the outbreak of the war he has kept continually on the move, rarely staying more than a week at any place, and often only a day. But the place wherever he may chance to be is the official German headquarters.

Necessary, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her.

Madison, Wis.—"I was a terribly sick woman for over three years. I suffered with terrible pains in my back and was about to have an operation when a friend said to me, 'Before having that operation just try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I let the operation wait, and my husband bought me the Vegetable Compound and it has made me a well woman and we have a lovely baby girl. We cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough, and I hope this letter will lead other suffering women to try it."—Mrs. BENJAMIN F. BLAKE, R.F.D. No. 5, Box 22, Madison, Wis.

There must be more than a hundred thousand women in this country who, like Mrs. Blake, have proven what wonders Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can do for weak, ailing women. Try it and see for yourself.

All women are invited to write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

FINAL REPORT NOT YET IN ON LIBERTY LOAN

Washington, October 29—Further figures showing Liberty Loan subscription totals, the Treasury Department announced today, will not be made public here until November 1. This decision was reached when it became apparent that the Federal Reserve Banks would be unable to make more than approximate returns before that time.

There was nothing today at the Treasury on which to base an estimate of the grand total of subscriptions. It was assumed, in the lack of reports, that the banks were busy tabulating the totals, which rolled in by the millions Saturday, the final day of the campaign. Officials re-assured their belief that the loan has passed $500,000,000.

Next Thursday is the last day upon which banks may make returns. All subscription agencies, including the 26,000 banks in the country, are required by the Treasury to have their subscription lists and the 2 per cent. of subscriptions required with bond

DON'T WAIT

Take Advantage of a Maysville Citizen's Experience.

When the back begins to ache. Don't wait until backache becomes chronic.

"Till kidney troubles develop; Profit by a Maysville woman's experience."

Mrs. R. W. Lauderback, W. Second St., Maysville, says: "Two years ago I was suffering with kidney trouble and had been for a long time. I was nervous and dizzy and had severe headaches. My kidneys were too frequent in action and annoyed me greatly. I had a dull ache across the small of my back and my back was so lame at times that I could hardly bend one way or the other. Some one advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at Wood & Son's Drug Store. They helped me at once and continued use entirely cured me of the trouble."

Mrs. Lauderback is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that cured Mrs. Lauderback—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. His election to the bishopric came in 1914 as a recognition of his efficient record in subordinate positions. Bishop Jones has been a Socialist for some years. Now he has been formally charged with disloyalty to his country, as indicated by his membership in organizations not in sympathy with the national purpose, and also by his own criticism of the Government.

THE TABERNACLE ENTERTAINMENT

At Odd Fellows Hall on Thursday, November 29, Has Struck a Popular Response Everywhere.

This little band of women have extended such an honored and magnanimous invitation to every lodge in Maysville and every church in the county, that it is safe to predict a large crowd for their entertainment Thanksgiving day.

A celebration of this nature affords an excellent opportunity for fraternal, religious, industrial and professional men and women to meet upon a fundamental ground and renew their pledge to make better efforts to help the poor and oppressed, to go shoulder to shoulder in our country's cause to give our full measure unselfish to the cause of God and humanity.

This momentous gathering on Thanksgiving Day will as a youthful race give rise to motives so high and character so noble and patriotism so unselfish that from this time henceforth all fraternal organizations in our proud little hamlet will be the better for having met in union, they will be kept pure and command a measure of devotion from all the citizens unsurpassed by any that our age can trace to its superior wisdom and superior knowledge of fraternal things.

To give unto Caesar the things that are Caesar, is not less the direct commandment of Christ than to love God and our neighbor. No one understands this better and try more earnestly to perfect these true things than this goodly band of women who comprise Congo River Tabernacle, who have labored so nobly in the battles of life with ceaseless zeal that woman should be holy and live at any and all times as Caesar's wife, "above suspicion." And all the lodges that assemble with Congo River Tabernacle on Thanksgiving Day, stand shoulder to shoulder for these noble principles and they will beyond a shadow of doubt express the endearing thought when their number is called for on the evening's program.

The class of entertainment is timely and in keeping with the spirit of Thanksgiving Day, for deep in the heart of every man and woman dwells the one sweet perfect memory that is home, father and mother, and joy and love we would display on Thanksgiving Day, for the pumpkin pie, turkey and cranberries and all the good cookery that the tender and loving hands of mother prepared in the bygone days.

It was back in the days when the frost was on the pumpkins and the fodder was in the shock, they are the days homes first love, the love unspilled by calculation or the wisdom that comes with the later years, and the love whose unfolding is a revelation and which bridges with a rainbow bow of dreams the gulf between childhood and manhood.

In the rush and hurry of life and the claims of duty and responsibilities causes our youthful dreams to be soon forgotten and thrust aside, but in the sunset years, it is then age sets its seal upon the brain and body, the old memory creeps back, a poignant picture from the youth that has fled. It is strange, passing strange how closely men and women cling and cluster to the youthful things when the Thanksgiving Day comes around, and when his heart is a truant from the old home which sheltered him and taught him his palatable toothsome taste for Thanksgiving turkey and cranberries, with the good old pumpkin pie on the side.

Such a one has but to allow his footsteps to lead him to Oddfellows hall, where his "old-fashioned" dinner awaits his coming, and as he eats his memory can travel back to the good old days down on the farm, "when the frost was on the pumpkins and the fodder was in the shock."

The exceedingly fine program for morning, afternoon and night will amply repay you for your visit and help to these noble women in their laudable undertaking and who are struggling to secure money to care for their sick and distressed members.

TODAY'S EVENTS

A general conference of insurance and warehouse men is to be held at the Department of Agriculture in Washington today to discuss the proposed rules and regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture under the new United States Warehouse Act.

All branches of educational work will be discussed at the Sixty-fifth annual institution of the Michigan State Teachers' Association, which will open a three-day session today at Grand Rapids.

The North Dakota Education Association has decided to eliminate the musical and entertainment features from its annual convention opening today at Bismarck, and to devote the money to war relief work.

At midnight tonight the bars of Washington, D. C., will close, probably never to be reopened. As a result of the Sheppard law coming into effect the wholesale and retail liquor stores will be closed, local breweries shut down, and thirsty residents of the capital left dependent upon the private importation of liquors beyond the confines of the District of Columbia.

In these stirring times it is interesting to recall today as the fiftieth anniversary of the death of John A. Andrew, the famous war governor of Massachusetts.

In the season's averages the White Sox were second in team batting, Detroit being first. And in team fielding the champions were also second, the Red Sox holding down first place.

FOOD ECONOMY

Practiced By Housewives of Kentucky Will Not Be In Vain—Army Training Camp Are Lending Assistance.

Louisville, Ky., October 31—That the food economy practiced by the housewives of Kentucky will not be in vain for as far as the co-operation of the army is concerned is assured in a letter from the commander of Camp Zachary Taylor here made public today by F. M. Sackett, Federal Food Administrator for Kentucky. This letter shows that the army training camps are doing everything science can suggest to prevent waste in the feeding of hundreds of thousands of men. The letters follows:

Headquarters 84th Division,
Camp Zachary Taylor,
Kentucky,
October 29, 1917.

Mr. F. M. Sackett,
Food Administrator for Kentucky,
Speed Bldg.,
Louisville, Ky.

My dear Mr. Sackett:
Knowing of the vital concern of your office in the conservation and economic use of food, I am writing to say that I am quite encouraged in results obtained along this line at Camp Zachary Taylor.

When I first came here this matter was taken up and it was impressed upon subalterns to thoroughly instruct their cooks and dining-room help as to the necessity of preventing waste and as to the methods of securing this result. Since that time, in daily inspections of the camp, I have taken pains to inspect the garbage cans and assure myself, through this means and others, that the orders, that the orders are being carried out. From these inspections it is evident that we are succeeding in preventing waste at this camp, and I am writing to inform you that you may know at first hand the facts in the case.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) HARRY HALE,
Major General, N. A.

GAS MAIN BREAKS AT LEXINGTON

A break about 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning in the main gas pipe line of the Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company, which supplies Lexington and the adjacent Bluegrass with natural gas, interrupted the flow of gas for several hours today and left hundreds of homes in this city without heating and cooking facilities.

Before noon the service was restored and everybody was happy that the break was no worse.

Coming at the hour it did, and following the sudden drop in temperature, the cessation of the flow of gas caused much inconvenience, discomfort and annoyance in hundreds of homes and many boarding houses which depend exclusively on gas for heating and cooking.
